Introduction

These guidelines:

- Provide you with the steps to switch your regular payments to your new account at another bank, credit union or building society.
- Outline the four easy steps you should take to set up the new payment arrangements.
- Provide tips for a smooth change-over.
- Have some easy to use forms to send to the organisations that make payments to – or withdraw money from – your account.

How to switch – the four steps

Doing it yourself

If you want to make the switch yourself, follow these steps:

1 Open an account with the new financial institution

2 Identify your regular payments to and from the old account

This requires a bit of planning. Review your bank statements to identify all regular payments to and from your old account (the 'credits' and 'debits') or ask your old financial institution to issue you with a list of regular payments. Regular debits to your account could be phone bills and gym membership. Regular credits that you receive could be your salary and share dividends.

Payment cycles range from weekly and monthly to quarterly and yearly, so you need to look back at least 13 months.

There are four kinds of regular payments to be identified:

1. Regular debits and credits as mentioned above;
2. Periodical payments are standing instructions given to your financial institution like "on a monthly basis, debit my account and pay my rent.";
3. Recurring payments are made by your providers or merchants where you have supplied your Visa Debit or MasterCard Debit card number; and
4. 'Pay anyone' are payments you make using your financial institution's internet banking service like every month pay my child's pocket money. Before you close your old account you should access your internet banking account with the old financial institution to print out your 'pay anyone' list.

3 Re-establish your payments on the new account

Now you're ready to contact each organisation that makes regular credits and debits to your account and ask them to change your account details in their records. Either contact the organisation by phone, mail or internet and follow their instructions; or Complete and post a 'change advice' letter to each organisation. Samples are shown in this pack on pages 5 and 6. The change advice letters are available on APCA's website¹ and can be completed online.

For other payments:

If you make periodical payments, ask your new financial institution to set them up on the new account.

If you have recurring payments, advise your provider or merchant of your new debit card number.

If you use internet banking to make payments yourself, set up your 'pay anyone' details on the new account.

And of course don't forget to tell your employer your new account details to ensure your salary gets paid into it.

4 Close your old account

Once you're sure all your regular direct debits and credits have been successfully re-established on your new account, you can close the old account.

Tips for a smooth change-over

Once the organisations have been advised of your change in account details, you should:

- Make sure you have enough money in your old account to cover current payments until all regular payments have been re-established on your new account.
- Look at your new account when you expect the next regular debit or credit to appear and contact the organisation if the payment does not appear on your new account or continues to appear on your old account.
- Close your account with the old financial institution as soon as your regular payments appear on your new account.

Financial institutions have no control over when the organisations that make credits and debits to your account will update their records.

Following these tips should ensure you are not charged additional fees such as dishonour fees or account overdrawn fees.

Remember the organisations that make credits and debits to your account will contact you for new instructions if these regular payments fail.

Here's an example of a typical 'list of regular direct debits and credits' (regular payments) your old financial institution will give you when you ask for it.

The old financial institution will also provide details of your periodical payments, if you have any, but they may be provided on a separate list.

Your direct debit arrangements are listed here.

Each row listed may represent a Direct Debit arrangement with a debiting organisation. Look for a change in columns "Name of User" or "Name of Remitter" to indicate a different debiting organisation. The "Name of User" and "Name of Remitter" will identify the debiting organisation to contact. The column "Lodgement reference" is your customer identifier (e.g your city council reference id). The column "Date" shows the last date the direct debit was made for this arrangement, expressed as ddmmyy.

Multiple rows with the same "Name of User" and "Name of Remitter" but a different Lodgement Reference and Date may be single debit arrangement where a different lodgement reference is used for each debit transaction.

Your Direct Credit arrangements are listed below. Identify your Direct Credit organisations by following the same guidelines provided for your Direct Debit arrangements above.
